A SOCIALIST APPEAL.

The following stirring appeal has been issued in fly sheet form, and is being widely circulated by the Abolitionists of Switzerland:

"Comrades, we protest against war."

"We protest against the capitalist speculation and capitalist imperialism, which cause wars."

"We protest against the senseless exportation of human life and popular resources."

"Forget not, comrades, to protest against another mass-murdering, not less horrible than that of Balkan battles."

"Forget not to protest against the murderer alcohol. Every tenth man dies directly from it. More surely than shrapnel or machine gun it decimates our ranks, if less apparently, none the less terribly. It stimulates to the most unspeakable barbarism and violence. The most ardent, the most noble, the most child-neglected and corrupted through it."

"Will you protest only against the great powers of destruction, at which, for the present, you can but hurl your scorn and hatred?"

"Why not rise against a power whose fearful operations are comparable to war—against a power which you are able now, at this moment, to effectively injure?"

"Why not lift your arm against alcohol, the destroyer of your happiness, the ally of your enemies, the enemy of your efforts, the pitiless torturer of your women and children?"

"Comrades, we call on you in the name of solidarity and justice to take up the fight against alcohol."

"Protest against this support of capitalism, this destroyer of human happiness by cutting loose from it."

"Long live the proletariat, which demands not merely a new life, but which knows how to evolve from itself new power of life and new forms of life."

HOW A WOMAN OUTWITTED A SALOONKEEPER.

There is a beautiful little town in the state of Washington, on a high bluff, overlooking the majestic Columbia River, not far below the Dalles. In it lives a woman deeply interested in the cause of temperance. For a long time she was free from a saloon, the centre and source of all evils. The good people were glad to escape the blight which cursed the town, and directly, everybody through a grog shop exists.

But at last a man, who ought to have been ashamed of his relations with a saloon, was opened, with everything bright, clean and attractive. The keeper stood in the doorway smiling a welcome to all passers. The lovers of sobriety were deeply stricken. Many men said loudly that it was a shame. The ministers preached and prayed against the intriguing monster. But nothing was done. The law, unfortunately, seemed to be on the side of the saloon, and nobody saw any remedy for the evil which had come to menace the community.

There was, however, one woman in the village of unusual sagacity and courage. While others were merely talking, she bravely determined to do something; just what she would not very clear to her at first. But she would make an effort. So one quiet morning, when no one was likely to be there, she went boldly to the saloon door and entered. As she hoped, the saloonkeeper was alone. He was evidently very much surprised. Such a woman was not an expected or welcome visitor. However, he tried to make the best of the situation and spoke pleasantly to the woman. She told him kindly but frankly the object of her visit; to plead with him to leave the place, pointing out the great harm his liquor would do to the young, especially not only the bad example, but the use of money for drink that ought to buy food and clothes and provide the means of education.

She had not gone far when he stopped her with a gesture and said quite firmly: "Madam, this is not an evil but an innocent place. I shall allow nothing wrong to be done here. I shall strictly observe the law and keep perfect order." Here the brave woman interrupted him and tried to press her points upon his attention, naming the many and inevitable evils associated with a saloon business. In his impatience he exclaimed: "I want to tell you that nothing will be allowed here that could shock any woman."

As quick as a flash our fighting Christian saw her advantage and chose her line of battle. "With a gracious smile, she said: 'Possibly I am wrong. You claim that nothing will be allowed here that could shock any woman. Do you mean it?'"

The saloonkeeper probably realized that he had made a blunder, but he little realized how great a mistake he had made. But having gone so far, he could hardly retreat or retract. Even liquor-sellers are human, often with many a grain of manliness—surely often better than their business. It was with formal politeness, but probably with a veiled inward irritation, that he replied: "Certainly, madam, come here and sit in one of these chairs whenever you wish to do so. I assure you that you will never see anything

WHEN BUYING YEAST INSIST ON HAVING THIS PACKAGE

DECLINE SUBSTITUTES

Our temperance apostle thanked him heartily and departed, confident that she had won a victory for everything good in the village.

The rest of the story may be quickly told. She at once organized her women friends. Two by two, they went to the saloon door every day in the morning when it opened with their sewing and, taking chairs, they proceeded to talk and hold the fort. Two more were on hand during the afternoon, and a third couple kept "the night watch."

This went on from day to day. Of course, the men who wanted liquor would not go there for it! And yet, why not, if a proper thing to do? The saloonkeeper evidently cursed his fate. But he had been caught. In his own trap it was now too late to drive the women out. The whole town was on their side and laughing at his stupidity. It was not long before he packed up and left the village, which was now once more free from the curse of a grog-shop, thanks to the wit of a single courageous woman—National Advocate.

AN EX-GOVERNOR FIGHTING FOR PROHIBITION

A splendid addition to the temperance ranks was ex-Governor Patterson, of Tennessee. When one considers his conversion to belief in Christ, the making over of his private life and his complete change of front on the liquor question, one cannot help thinking of the transformation of Saul of Tarsus into Paul, the Apostle.

From the beginning of his political career he was looked upon as one of the most powerful champions of the liquor trade. In his first speech he took a position on the liquor question from which he never deviated throughout his official career.

He was a man of high character, a carefully written message which he as Governor of the State, sent to the Legislature expressing the opinion that prohibition as a government policy was fundamentally wrong, was circulated as campaign literature, published in liquor journals and in books and used as arguments by those who were contesting the advance of the prohibition sentiment.

Governor Patterson was forced into close and intimate relations with men of convivial habits and sometimes of low ideals. He made compromise with his home training, and while never a habitual drinker, he was often overcome and led into debauchery that was repulsive to his best nature. It was while on one of these debauches that he was hissed by arrest and exposure.

That humiliation was God's opportunity. Dr. Weber, a Methodist pastor in his city, wrote to him, urging him to seek the favor of God. Governor Patterson sent a courteous reply, which led to other correspondence and interviews. He made a bold decision and took his stand.

It can be imagined that the Governor's first stand for prohibition and his new attitude in favor of liquor law enforcement bills produced a great sensation for when he studied the question from the viewpoint of a Christian, he was forced to abandon his former position and accept prohibition as the only remedy for the great evil.

The position which he took and his vigorous work meant prohibition as realized. But the effect is not to be confined to his own state. The call for speakers are coming in by every mail from every part of the country. The people want to hear him. He is thinking seriously of closing his law office and of giving all of his time to the fight against the saloon. This is what the ex-Governor says about the liquor itself should go.

"I favor prohibition in any form that will either reduce or destroy the liquor traffic. I favor it personally, morally, nationally and world-wide."

SUMMER SESSION FOR TEACHERS

July 6th to August 7th, 1914

In order to provide opportunity for teachers to secure the training necessary to enable them to do better work in Elementary Agriculture and School Gardening, Nature Study, Household Art and Science, Manual Training, Fine Arts and Physical Training, the Minister of Education directed that a Summer Session for teachers be held at the University of Alberta during the summer of 1914.

The response to this provision by the teachers was most gratifying to the Minister of Education and to those associated with him in carrying out his policy. From the point of view of numbers, of quality of work, of good spirit and of comradeship, the session of 1913 was a distinct success. The result has been that the Minister of Education has decided to continue the policy of holding such sessions and to develop them as a means for the training of teachers already employed in the works of the schools of Alberta.

The plans for the session in 1914 are similar to those for that of 1913. Courses will be offered in the same subjects. As approximately fifty per cent of those who attended last year have signified their intention of returning for a second summer's work and are asking for more advanced courses in certain subjects, these advanced courses are to be offered this year. The courses in all subjects are planned on the basis of having two successive summers' work form a complete unit. Those teachers who complete satisfactorily the course in Elementary Agriculture and School Gardening for two successive summers and later carry out the work successfully in their own schools will be considered to have completed the training necessary to enable them to do better work in Elementary Agriculture and School Gardening, Nature Study, Household Art and Science, Manual Training, Fine Arts and Physical Training, the Minister of Education directed that a Summer Session for teachers be held at the University of Alberta during the summer of 1914.

The figures of membership showed an advance of 10 raised for connexional funds, $1,072, as against $1,173 last year; raised for all purposes, $18,562, as against $13,592 last year. Red Deer churches raised this year $8,394 for all purposes.

Three new churches—Delburne, Innisfail and Lakeview—had been built at a cost of $7,000.

Revs. Woodsworth and Leard and Messrs. Speakman, Michener and Trimble were appointed the District Missionary committee.

It was resolved that the work on the Springvale and Penhold fields be readjusted as follows: Springvale, Clearview, Horn Hill and Antler Hill to form a new field, and that Westholm be attached to Innisfail to form a new field, the new field to be known as Red Deer east. Permission will be asked from Conference for the Penhold church to make such disposition of their present property as seems advisable.

This question was followed by an earnest discussion on the "Promotion of the work of God" in the district. The chairman introduced the question of the use of Decision Day as a means of securing through the members of the district expressed themselves as favoring this method of educational evangelism, and it was recommended that so far as possible Decision Day be observed in all the Sunday Schools.

It was thought that in some cases the Government provision for religious instruction in the public school might be made use of profitably, and the Annual Conference will be memorialized to take up again with similar committees of the Anglican, Baptist and Presbyterian Churches the pressing of the introduction into the Public and High School curricula some definite instruction in religious and Biblical truth.

Probable new fields will be brought to the notice of the Home Mission Superintendent.

The name of Lakeview Mission was changed to Elmore.

Among the memorials passed on to the Annual Conference was one to nominate the time limit of the pastoral term: to have a paper and discussion on the problems of the rural church on the conference programme of 1915; that the whole course of studies of candidates, probationers, and local preachers, be revised in such a way as shall better introduce them to the practical work of the ministry; and the mental framework of the present day; that the Mission Board be requested to arrange the annual report so as to publish less figure and more living items and letters from the various fields.

It was moved by Rev. R. E. Finlay, seconded by Rev. W. B. Leard; that the thanks of this district meeting be conveyed by the pastor and through the press to the Trustees Board of the Methodist Church for the generous use of the church and to the people of Red Deer who have so hospitably entertained us in their homes.

The next annual meeting was appointed for Red Deer.

The Dominion Land Office took in about $9,000 and about 10,000 acres were filed.

There is no saying where this craze will end. That some people will make money is certain, and it is just as sure that some will have said good-bye to their hard-earned money forever. The thing is a straight gamble, and the average man will gamble, no matter what you say or do. He is always ready for some excitement, in fact his very nature is such that he will under the circumstances it is a great pity that the money now being laid out on oil shares in Calgary wells could have been put into a local company so that we could have developed something close at home. We would in that event have benefited the city by it, not so much by circulating our own money, but by the advantage we would gain in bringing in the outsider and his money. That is the real gain, particularly if we get capital from the other side of the line. Passing our money from one to the other is not half so good as bringing in new money.

We would advise those wishing to lay out a little money in oil shares not to be in too great a hurry, as we understand that within a few days Mr. Fred Krause will have formed a company to drill in Red Deer, and that the shares are likely to be put on the market at $1.00 each, with a minimum of 5 shares. We have been told that experts say we have a splendid chance of success here, so that by supporting this company we shall be helping to develop a home industry.

We would advise all who are taking shares, no matter in what company, to see that they are protected in the prospectuses.

Runaway Injures Youth

A number of citizens who saw the runaway horse ridden by young Josh Rutherford on Thursday morning last were almost scared to death when they saw the horse fall at the Imperial Bank corner, for it looked as if he had killed the boy, but fortunately he escaped with a broken foot and badly sprained ankle, although he lost a large quantity of blood from his nose and mouth, caused by striking the ground so heavily.

The horse was a three-year-old recently purchased and lent to the boy for a ride, and although it got away with him he had no difficulty in keeping his seat in the saddle until the horse fell in making a sharp turn at the place mentioned, after running around a number of blocks of the city.

The horse fell on his near side, with the boy leg pinned under him, and so fast was the rate he was travelling that after falling he skidded some yards ahead clear of the boy, forcing the boot (which was buttoned) clean off the left foot.

The boy was picked up by H. Hutchins and others and carried into the Gaetz-Cornett drug store, where willing hands did what they could, and he was afterwards taken to the hospital in the care of Dr. Allan, and he is now progressing very favorably, and is not, as was at first feared, injured inwardly.

THE C.P.R. BUILT THE WEST

The C.P.R. has been the biggest factor in the colonization of the west. It cannot be denied that this corporation is making and has made an earnest effort to bring settlers to its lands. It maintains offices in Europe and the United States for this purpose. It disposes of farms on very easy terms. It advances money for the purchase of stock and so forth. It prepares what are known as ready-made farms for the settler. It has spent millions of dollars in irrigating its lands. It is possible to fill up the country with settlers. Yet, even today, in spite of all this, the C.P.R. comes in for a certain amount of fault finding by old time Liberals, but it is pleasant to see it is dying out and will soon be a thing of the past.

Fresh Air Tonic Best in world

In the spring the tired man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of tonic. The first heats of spring or early summer after a wearing winter of withstanding the strain of cold and the debilitating effects of furnace heat and stuffy rooms bring on that tired feeling that we otherwise know as spring fever. In April or May, according to the backwardness or forwardness of the season, the use of the patent medicines miscalled tonics flourishes.

Fortunately, however, the employment of the medicinal concoctions has ceased to be as prevalent as it was a generation ago. Our grandmothers had some excuse for doctoring her family in spring, for medical science had not made much general progress among the people, but there is next to no excuse for doing so now. If she was a farmer's wife her simples or herbs were safe and helpful things to take, but not so much may be confidently affirmed of Doctor Skull-and-Bones' patent. This generally consists of the old lady's "yarbs" from which she brewed her tonic, but to this harmless base have been added a generous dosage of pure alcohol and probably a dash of poisonous strychnine. The trusting dweller in city tents hires him to the nearest corner drug store and buys this compound without knowing whether it is a cure or a killer.

But conditions and practices are becoming modified. People have largely learned, and more people are daily learning, that buon nature provides the real medicine for spring fever or the tired feeling. Great draughts of fresh air and swinging walks across the fields or through the leafy groves and a plunge in outdoor pool or indoor cold bath are the genuine invigorators. The chase of the elusive tennis ball over a hard court or of the springy golf ball over a turfed links is the best of all tonics. "Throw physics to the dogs—I'll none of it!"—Spokane Spokesman—Review.

Sport Notes

The play of the St. Luke's and Canadians in the opening football match can be summed up in the word individualism. There was not the faintest attempt at combination, y either team. Each forward seemed to think he was the only one on the field, with the result that he did a whole lot of useless, hard work, pumping himself out, and being needlessly robbed at the last moment by an opponent.

When will the Red Deer football players learn to use their brains as well as their feet during a game? While the game was very friendly, there was too much risk taken in the manner that some of the players charged into each other. It should be shown to all players that a charge should be to the shoulder and not the stomach, or the back, which is dangerous play, and should be put down by every referee. Some players are noted for holding opponents back by the use of their outstretched arms, which is a foul and comes under the heading of "holding."

There were a number of foul throws made during the game, and this occurs year after year. Some players throw the ball in while on the run, others jump in the air, and so on. Yet the rule is very simple to follow, and should be made of by all players. The player throwing the ball must stand on the touch line, face the field of play, and deliver the ball over his head with both hands, and must at the same time have both feet on the ground. Raising the heels off the ground does not constitute a breach of the rules.

Goal posts are badly needed, and it is hoped the League will see their way clear to get them. The citizens turned out well to see the first game, and the collection amounted to $1.35. The game was both acceptable and satisfactory.

Did you see Lawson swat that ball?

What did you think of Chadsey as a shortstop?

St. Luke's colors were of the variety kind. Uniformity helps to success.

The Fire Brigade baseball team have not yet won any games, but they have won admiration for their pluck in sticking to their games.

Saskatoon still heads the Western Canada League, with Calgary a good second.

A DANGEROUS JOB.

Doing "Stunts" For the "Movies"

Requires Plenty of Courage.
Very few of the hundreds of thousands of people who attend the picture palace realize the great danger involved in acting for the films they witness in comfort.

The leader of the thrill-producers among the motion picture people on this continent is without doubt Rodman Law, the young man who jumps off a high bridge, scales the outside wall of a skyscraper with his fingers and toes, and allows himself to be used as ballast for a sky-rocket.

Prominent, too, in motion picture acting is Miss Mary Fuller, who has a conspicuous record for daring "stunts"; some of her narrow escapes from death or serious injury are anything but pleasant. In fact, her adventures are decidedly thrilling.

"Never, so long as I live," she relates, "will I forget the day I slid down a rope of bedclothes from a window seven stories above the ground."

"I had done many perilous things, but this was the most terrifying, because there was no intense dramatic action to take my mind off the danger. The directors simply asked me in a matter-of-fact way if I would slide down a rope from that height. I gasped for a moment, and then, fearing the thought of being a coward more than the perils of the feat, I closed my eyes and answered that I would."

"As we started out to do the scene I began furiously to watch the bulldozers. That fall one, it must be eight or nine stories high—I counted—it was only six! Heaven, I was to slide from a point higher than that building, dangling in space! I shuddered."

"Finally we came to the apartment house where I had been chosen and were ushered up to a room on the seventh floor. I was recognized when I stepped from the automobile, and the appearance of the long rope of bedclothes started the run or that I was to do something extraordinary."

By the time we had tested the rope and everything was ready, there was a crowd of curious people gazing upward at my window.

"The view from that window will live forever in my mind's eye—the rope was stretching downward to eternity—no—no—not eternity, but, worse still, a pavement of unyielding stone; the iron picket fence that surrounded the little area—could feel the sharp points penetrating my feet; the upturned faces of the crowd of them already becoming anxious as the realization of what I was to do dawned upon them."

"I suddenly realized that if I remained in that window for another instant I would be panic-stricken and powerless to make the descent. I waved my hand to the director, shut my eyes, and swung out on the sill. I counted the windows as I passed them, not daring to look down. I had gone half way when the rope gave a little sag and my heart stopped as a vision of that picket fence flashed before me. But the rope held—would it hold until I reached the bottom?"

"When I was about twenty feet from the ground the crowd began to cheer, but above the cheer I heard the noise of a tearing blanket. 'What that my eyes again?'—my hands seemed to rebel at further torture, and then I dropped."

"But it was only ten feet, and I was unharmed. Yes, unharmed, if bleeding hands and a body that ached be called unharmed; but I had done it and I was happy."

Honest.
A story is told on a young man who was married recently to the daughter of a wealthy merchant. The bridegroom did not have a cent, but he made up for lack of wealth in honesty. He was so very honest that he would not even prevaricate in the marriage ceremony.

When Prices Are High.
To get their prices for eggs have them to sell in December and January. Chickens are highest in May and June. Butter rises and falls with eggs and that sold in December and January brings the best prices. Potatoes reach their highest about Aug. 1 and fall like a rock every day after. Of course, all these things are highest when we haven't got 'em, but it's the business of every one of us to try to have 'em when the price is high, if we can.—Farm and Fireside.

A Lamb In The Street.
"Kidd looks very sheepish lately. He seems to have been thoroughly cowed by something."

"Didn't you hear? He foolishly took a steer from a bull on the beat market."

Deaf.
Teacher—How do you account for the phenomenon of deaf?

Boy—Well, you see, the earth revolves on its axis every twenty-four hours, and in consequence of this tremendous pace it perishes freely.—London Tit-Bits.

C. N. R. SUCCEEDS

In Appeal Against Cora Lynn School Assessment

Judge Simmons has handed out his decision in the case of the Canadian Northern Railway Co. vs. The Cora Lynn School district tried at the last Supreme Court Civil Buildings here, finding for the plaintiff with costs.

The school district assessed the C.N.R. property at $49,000 in 1912 and $53,000 in 1913. The Co.'s engineer claimed that the buildings were worth $3,775, while the district gave no evidence as to the value of buildings. The land was nearly 61 acres of the northeast quarter of 30-40-18, W4, and the balance of the quarter was assessed at $25 an acre. On this basis the value of the Company's land would be $1,268, and their whole property $7,043.

The plaintiffs claimed that the assessment was not made according to section 3 of chapter 71 of the N.W.T. Ordinance which provides that the roadway and superstructure shall not be assessed at a greater value than $1,000 per mile. The defendant claimed that under subsection 3, section 41, Chap. 105, N.W.T. Ordinance, the Co. were excluded from assessing inasmuch as they did not appear before the Court of Revision and prosecute an appeal from that court.

The judge held that this subsection could not be held to extend powers of the Board, but related only to matters over which the school board were given jurisdiction by the Legislature, and that Chap. 71 N.W.T. Ordinance, specifically limited this jurisdiction in the matter of assessment of the railway right-of-way and superstructure. The School Board having acted illegally in assessing, the Company were not bound to appeal to the Court of Revision.

The judge directed that the assessment roll be corrected by substituting for the illegal assessments such as were in conformity with the provisions of Chap. 71, N.W.T. Ordinance, and the district to pay the costs of the action.

Success of Mr. E. Carswell's Work

Pincher Creek, May 11.—"The organization of the Farmers' Co-Operative Elevator company has reduced the spread between the street and track and increased the price paid to every grain grower in the province," was the statement of President W. J. Treagus of the United Farmers of Alberta, to the delegates in attendance on the district convention of that organization here yesterday.

High tariff duties and a limited market make the problems of the farmers most serious, said the head of the farmers' organization. He went on to show that under these adverse conditions it was only through co-operation that the farmers could attain any degree of success.

"Co-operation," said he, "simply means trying to live together. It is the hardest thing on earth and the highest aim in heaven."

Mr. Treagus went on to say that the great elevator scheme which the farmers put into effect last year is succeeding beyond expectations, and that the system would undoubtedly receive substantial additions during the present year. The elevators had been of greater benefit than the farmers themselves knew, and had forced up the price of grain materially.

Selling for the Farmers

Vice-President E. Carswell, director of the recently created department of live stock and co-operation, explained the workings of his department, which has been in operation only about a month, and had shipped 28 cars of hogs.

"The support we have received is most surprising," he said, "We are doing more business, after a month's operation, than we expected to be doing six months from the time of opening. If the department continued to grow in the future at the same ratio that it has in the last thirty days, its volume of business will be something tremendous in a very short time. We have handled an immense quantity of hogs, and transacted our business at outside points through the managers of the local elevators. We are doing a little community buying, in coal and flour and lumber, and in every instance are saving the farmer the profits of the middleman. The word has gone forth throughout the province that we are saving the farmers money, and the result is indicated by the increased number of locals that are being organized. I understand that during the month of April about 33 new locals were organized. The farmers are beginning to appreciate the value of the great organization, and I look for our total membership to reach 20,000 before the end of the year."

Professor Saxe of the faculty of Calgary University told the delegates what had been accomplished by co-operation in Ireland, Denmark, Germany and even Russia.

The farmers were the guests of the townspeople at a banquet last night. The banquet was very largely attended, and a number of excellent speeches were made.

Temperance Field Day

On Sunday the Temperance and Moral Reform League opened their campaign so far as Red Deer is concerned for a province-wide Prohibition. There were four visiting speakers, who occupied various pulpits, as follows: The Rev. Dr. Fulton, Minister of the Presbyterian Church in the morning, the Rev. W. P. Gold, the General Secretary of the League, was at the Baptist church in the morning, and in the evening at the Church of the Nazarene. Mr. Stillman of Calgary occupied the Methodist pulpit, in the morning, and in the evening the Baptist. And the Presbyterian evening service was conducted by the Rev. Wm. Shearer, Superintendent of Home Missions.

On Sunday afternoon a mass meeting for men was held at the Oddfellows' Hall. There was a good turnout, and after a couple of hymns Mr. Stillman's rich and powerful bass voice was heard in a solo, "There Were Ninety and Nine" which he sang with sympathy and feeling. Mr. G. W. Smith, who was in the chair, next introduced the Rev. W. P. Gold, who made a brief appeal for solid support among the young men in fighting the liquor traffic.

Next came the Rev. Dr. Fulton, the principal speaker. Dr. Fulton referred to a visit by an Eastern paper about the "small black speck on the horizon, slowly coming this way, namely, the 'water-wagon'." He said this was no longer a small and distant speck, and moving slowly, but was right with us, and forcing ahead. He went on to say something about this progress, that in Alberta had reached the stage of a serious campaign for Province-wide Prohibition. He told how in Texas the roads were let for the storage of cotton, being no longer required for the safe-keeping of criminals, since prohibition had removed the principal cause of crime. He thought the policy of Alberta, which localized the liquor traffic for $400, was short-sighted and bad in every way. The bar-keepers who lured the youth into their clutches to ruin them, the brewers and distillers, were gradually coming to be looked upon as national enemies. This was why King George V. had given permission for his health to be drunk in water, and the Kaiser after an exhaustive test of endurance test of endurance between an abstainance and a lacer-drinking regiment had shown liquor to be harmful, had followed his example, advising both officers and rank and file to leave the stuff alone. We had come to the point of choice between alcohol and the flag. A chain of human beings holding hands eight times round the world at the equator would contain for one person in every five a woman mourning as the result of drink.

Drink was a mocker. Surgery condemned it. The study of hereditary effects condemned it. The science of economy condemned it. Employers condemned it, and discriminated between drinkers and abstainers. The successful drinker was a myth. This country got a revenue of $2,000,000 a year out of the trade, and it cost them annually $9,000,000 in its results.

Dr. Fulton's speech was very fluent and bristled with stories and statistics. At the end of it he explained the plan of campaign, and cards were distributed to the audience to be signed and returned. Each man present was handed two cards, one being a three-fold pledge and the other a subscription blank. The pledge were for personal abstinence, not to vote except for candidates who would favor prohibition, and to try to influence others. These cards were also used at the church services during the day.

On Monday evening a meeting was held in the Methodist lecture hall, with Mr. G. W. Smith in the chair, for organization. The following officers were elected:

President—G. W. Smith
Vice-President—A. H. Hopworth
Sec.-Treasurer—L. J. Porter
Executive—J. A. Youmans, E. R. Hill, J. A. Carswell, W. T. Bowhey, J. McVicar, A. J. Goodby, Ashbey Wood, George Sheline, M. L. Campbell, and all clergymen of the City.

The plan of campaign was discussed, and tentative arrangements made for working from over a score of outside points as centres, but no definite or final plans have been worked out sufficiently for publication.

'Tis a Sad, Sad World, and nobody knows how really sad this old dome of earthy crust is until he gets right up against it. Here's Harry Vineberg for instance, having laid in a complete, clean and carefully chosen stock of Men's "Head to Foot" Outfitting such as no store in Red Deer has ever been able to attain to. Our old friend Harry looked forward to a season full of brightness and prosperity. Like the umpire who was hit on the head with a fly-ball, Harry finds trouble thrust upon him, and thrust with a mighty dang big thrust too. He's got to find $6,000. In these hard times $6,000 wants a lot of finding and such a prospect would break the hearts of many men more able and stronger to bear it than Harry. But Harry in a Philosophical mood says "the biggest trouble I ever had never troubled me", and he at once turns his face to the enemy, girds up his loins, calls upon all his available resources, and though faced with a loss of at least $4,000, nevertheless determines to sacrifice, and throws his entire stock of

U.F.A. Edwell Union 53

A well attended meeting of this local Union was held in the school house on Wednesday, May 13th, with the President, T. J. Walton, in the chair. A letter was read from the President of the U.F.A., congratulating the organization on the splendid increase in local Unions, and urging the necessity of co-operation. After official communications had been read and discussed, the members considered the twine question and decided to purchase the Belfast twine through the Grain Growers' Grain Co., and the Secretary was instructed to communicate with all outlying Unions as to them co-operating with this one to obtain a carload. All members are requested to notify the Secretary without delay the amount they are likely to require.

The following were admitted members: Alex Gulliver, Edwell; Miller Sim, Edwell, and J. Bryndillon and E. Bryndillon, Edwell.

The agreement with the government, on the formation of an egg circle were ordered to be signed, and the Secretary was instructed to obtain the necessary stamps for marking the eggs, and T. Kirtson was accepted as a collector of the eggs. Ten members signed their intention of joining, which was a good start.

It was moved by J. F. Day that the annual picnic be held on the 11th of June, and this was agreed to, and it was agreed to its being held on the old Heppell place, about one mile west of the school house, and the Secretary was appointed to advertise it, and also to invite all neighboring Unions to attend. He was also instructed to see about obtaining a speaker from H. G. G. possible. The various committees were appointed, and a great deal of enthusiasm was evinced in the arrangements.

The subject of the weekly market in Red Deer was discussed during the evening, and the Secretary urged the members to give it their support. He also said that he was writing to the various neighboring Unions urging them to give it their support, for, as he pointed out, the buyers were there on the first day but not the sellers.

On motion, it was agreed to adjourn until June 4th, when final arrangements will be made, the picnic and other matter, and all members are particularly requested to attend, as this will be one of the most important meetings of the year.

Now, boys, get your chores done a little earlier, and show that you take an interest in your Local Union, and don't leave it all to the other fellow. You can't expect your officers to take a proper interest in things if you don't show up.—F. J. Powell, Secretary-Treasurer.

Calgary Fair

Those who look for entertainment, as well as instruction, when they attend an exhibition, will find this year that the Calgary Industrial Exhibition has again provided for them. The thousands who visit Victoria Park from June 29 to July 4 will find one of the most interesting programmes arranged for the afternoons and evenings. The large number from this town and district who attended last year are no doubt arranging to go again, and they and the friends they take with them will see everything in the way of attractions and amusements entirely new. More horses are entered for the races than ever before, and the purses, aggregating $20,000, will bring out the fastest ones. Free attractions of exceptional merit have been secured. Bands in abundance will enliven the proceedings, and a massed band concert, with the splendid fireworks, will be among the features of the evening's programme. Of course there will be the midway, which is a never-failing source of interest, and everything combining points to one of the most successful exhibitions which Calgary has ever had.

BEES FOR ALBERTA

A whole carload of live bees has recently arrived at Glover Bar Station on the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, a few miles east of Edmonton, the shipment coming from Sear, Michigan. Mr. P. H. Orth, of Glover Bar, who imported the bees, is evidently going into the industry of bee-keeping on a large scale, and the vegetation of Alberta gives every hope of success. The name Glover Bar itself seems to be an incentive to the cultivation of bees, and Glover Bar honey, when it makes its appearance on the market, should appeal to the imagination of the westerner.

The Grand Trunk Pacific handled the car of delicate live stock quite safely, although it was somewhat singularly that the trainmen approached the car. While en route the bees remained quiet in their hives.

A meeting of the Council of Local Improvement District No. 371, was held in Hesman's Hall at Sylvan Lake, May 26th, 1914.

The members were all present. Minutes of previous meeting adopted.

Few communications were received, but not of much importance, except from the Dept. of Public Works advising that very little help could be expected from them towards road building in this district.

Bills and accounts amounting to almost $800.00 were passed and ordered paid.

The Council appropriated money for further road work this summer as follows: $100.00 on the Sylvan Lake road out of Red Deer; $100.00 on the line east of O. Selstrom's; $150.00 in various parts of Division No. 4, most to be spent on the main road west of Everts; $100.00 in various parts in Division No. 3, south and west of Everts, and another $75.00 towards the new road west of Sylvan Lake.

Councillor Rogers was granted power to complete the road south of D. Hall, and a committee was appointed to estimate the cost of the work and tenders will be called for to do same.

The Council will meet next time the 11th day of July in Sylvan Lake.

Terrible Scalding Accident

ZAM-BUK GAVE QUICK RELIEF.

For taking the pain out of a burn or scald there is nothing equal to ZAM-BUK. Mrs. Eugene H. Pembroke, Ont., who was the victim of a painful scalding accident, proved this. She says: "I was carrying a boiler of steaming water from the stove to the wash-tub, when suddenly my strength failed. As the boiler was falling in spite of my efforts, a boiler of steaming water from the stove fell on my babies eye, and to avoid scalding them I gave the vessel a quick turn. The effect of this was that every drop of the boiling water poured over my feet and limbs, scalding me from my waist down. As soon as I saw the children had escaped, I told my oldest boy to bring the Zam-Buk (which we always keep in the house). I applied Zam-Buk freely, and the pain was soon eased. I continued using Zam-Buk, and in a wonderfully short time the sores were completely healed."

Zam-Buk is equally good for cuts, bruises, eczema, ulcers, piles, hemorrhoids. Price 50c per bottle at all druggists and stores, or post free from the Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, on receipt of price. Refuse substitutes and imitations. There is nothing "just as good."

THE VIA DOLOROSA.

Jerusalem's Queer Old Street Is a Mecca For Pilgrims.

"The Street of Pain," or the Via Dolorosa, in Jerusalem, is rightly described as the most sacred thoroughfare in the world.

Through it hundreds of pilgrims every year slowly and tenderly linger over its stones as they follow its steps, and the Church of the Holy Sepulchre, firmly believed to have been the way our Saviour walked to suffer an ignominious death for the sins of mankind.

During Holy Week, especially, it is crowded with Russian pilgrims, many of whom painfully make the journey upon their hands and knees.

The Via Dolorosa really consists of four streets which exhibit very characteristic formation of the streets of Jerusalem; the narrow arched passages, the open way with the latticed windows, and the steps that show the rise and fall of the hills while the city is built.

Fourteen stations mark the various episodes which are supposed to have transpired there during the journey of our Lord, commencing with the traditional "Palace of Pilate," near the Sea. The ancient holy steps, Scala Sancta, from the Judgment Hall, were removed to the Church of St. John Lateral in Rome, where they may now be seen. Near the Serail the narrow road is spanned by an arch, known as the Echo Home Arch.

According to a monkish legend, it marks the spot where Pilate said, "Behold the man." It is part of a triumphal arch of Hadrian, and near to that part of it built in the School of the Sisters of Zion, on the right hand side, are some curious stone cylinders of solid rock of undoubted antiquity, on which the town is used to stand when proclaiming the loss of certain articles or announcing some particular event of public interest.

Through the arch the street passes the Austrian Hospital at the bottom of the hill, then crosses another street at an angle, leaving the "House of Sins and Lazars" on the left hand, and ascends the next hill through arches and a vaulted passage, crossing the street from the Damascus gate before reaching the German Hospital. Then mounting step by step higher up the hill, turns at right angles through the Christian street, where an old entrance to the Church of the Holy Sepulchre is to be seen.

Various crosses and other religious emblems serve to remind the pilgrim of the sacred story along the route, of the place where Christ sank under the Cross, and where Simon of Cyrene was called upon to bear it; where Jesus leaned against the wall for support; where Veronica wiped the sweat from His brow, and His nature became incarnated on her handkerchief; and the many other holy places that are annually kissed and kissed.

The last four stations are in the Church of the Holy Sepulchre itself, and are supposed to be the actual places where the crucifixion took place. The last four stations are in the Church of the Holy Sepulchre itself, and are supposed to be the actual places where the crucifixion took place.

Nevertheless, thousands of pilgrims visit the Holy City and follow the road which Christ is said to have followed on the way to Calvary.

The Meaning of "Muff." The record of the fact that muffs were once worn by more men than women in Paris suggests the old ingenious definition of a muff as "a soft thing that holds a lady's hand without squeezing it." "Muff" appears to have come to us from Germany, in which language, curiously enough, means not only hand warmer, but also a sulky person or a growling dog. These seem, however, to be two different words. Was our own metaphorical "muff" an allusion to the effeminacy of muff wearers or simply an allusion to the fact that a son was distinctly "soft"?—London Chronicle.

Decorating Candles. Candles can be easily decorated by the following method: The designs are selected from paper prints tightly wrapped around the candle with the design in contact with the wax. Strike a match and play the flame over the back of the paper. Allow time enough for the melted wax to harden and then remove the paper. The print will be transferred to the wax. Select designs that are not larger than the circumference of the candle. A good impression of ink on thin paper works best.

Looking For Publicity. "George," she said, "before we go any further I must insist that the word obey be dropped from the marriage service."

"Oh, hah!" he replied. "Why bother over that? It's a mere formality. Nobody expects it to be binding any more."

"That's all very well. But if we have it dropped the papers will give us a much more extended notice than they would otherwise."

Advantage of Credit. "My big sister has a bean."

"So's mine, but I don't like him."

"Know what my sister 'd do if I didn't like her bean?"

"She'd send him back and get him changed, 'cause we've got a charge account at the store he comes from."

Nautical Information. "By the way, captain," said the sweet young thing on the second day out, with a smiling attempt to be chummy, "where does Mother Carey feed her chickens?"

"In the trough of the sea, young woman," replied the captain of the ocean liner, with solemn dignity.

Concrete Grain Elevators

Are the best grain insurance that you can have against fire or damage of any sort. They are proof against rodents that gnaw their way into ordinary buildings and carry away the farmer's profits. They save storage charges by enabling you to store your own grain until you can obtain better prices.

Elevators built of concrete maintain a dry, even temperature. They cannot rot, rust, burn and require no repairs or paint—in short, they are the cheapest kind of elevators the grain farmer can build.

Let us send you the free book "What the Farmer can do with Concrete". It tells all about concrete farm buildings and how to build them, and about dozens of other things that the farmer can build of concrete.

Central Alberta Amateur Baseball League Formed

A meeting to form an amateur baseball league for Central Alberta was held in Olds, Monday, the 25th. The meeting was a very enthusiastic one, with the result that a league was formed, consisting of Red Deer, Innisfail, Bowden, Olds and Didsbury, with Mr. Wally, of Olds, as Secretary.

The matches, as far as Red Deer is concerned, will be played away from home on Tuesdays and at home on Fridays, beginning next week.

Oil Fever

Calgary is passing through a very serious attack of oil fever, and the indications are that the large mass of citizens who are not generally stampered will invest their small earnings in oil stock. The cheaper it is, the more they get for their money, and they will probably never see in most cases, a cent of their money again. We would caution our readers to not be carried away by the temporary excitement, but to consider well, if they insist on buying oil shares, in what company they will invest. Great care should be taken in reading the prospectus to see that you will at least have a run for your money. The Calgary papers have already called attention to the fact that some of the companies formed do not even guarantee to drill, and thousands of investors in their excitement will overlook this and many other vital points.

Red Deer Celebrates 24th Quietly

The celebration of May 24th in Red Deer was of the quiet kind. Many citizens took advantage of the holiday coming on Monday by spending a few days out of town, some going to Calgary, Edmonton, Banff and other points, while others motored out to Sylvan Lake. Those staying in town visited the theatre and the pleasure of attending the band concerts given by the Salvation Army band, a treat that does not fall to our lot very frequently.

One remarkable fact in connection with Victoria Day celebration in our city was the almost entire absence of flags. There was probably not six flags flying in the city, and not one was seen flying from any public building. This is no credit to the city of Red Deer, and was repeatedly mentioned on the streets yesterday.

Yet we boast of our patriotism. While some excuse can be found for private households without flag poles, what excuse can be put up by our public bodies. Are we getting ashamed of our flag, as asked by one citizen, and we say also, are we?

British Cabinet Minister Again Defeated

That the defeat of the Right Hon. C. F. G. Masterman, Cabinet Minister in the British House of Commons, on Saturday, was a "staggering blow," is putting it mildly. This is the second attempt in a few weeks to find a seat, and in each case a Liberal stronghold has been found for him to run in, but in each case the voters have shown the Asquith government with no uncertain voice that they have had enough of Lloyd George and Willie Redmond, and it is time for a change.

To be defeated in the Ipswich Division by 532, and a turnover of 1,388 votes coming on top of Mr. Masterman's defeat in Bethnal Green, clearly shows that the government has lost the confidence of the people, and it only remains for them to face the music by going to the people and getting what they know is coming to them.

The third reading of the Home Rule Bill has been forced through and sent up to the House of Lords amid laughter and jubilation of the Liberals and Nationalists, but it is not yet law, and he laughs best who laughs last.

A peace of Ireland will be settled by the Unionists, not by the Liberal-Labor-Nationalist party, whose combined majority in the House of Commons has fallen to 94 today, and the party unable to find a safe road for a Cabinet Minister.

Football League Meeting

A meeting of the Football League committee was held on Friday last. Among other business was the discussion of a protest laid by St. Luke's Club against the result of their match with the Canadian team on the grounds of the goal scored being an illegal one, and that the grounds were not properly marked out. The protest was not in order and was dismissed. The committee decided not to inflict a fine on the Canadians for their first offence, but administered a caution. In future the home team, who is responsible for the marking out of the grounds, will be dealt with strictly according to the rules.

Baseball

In the local baseball league the School met the Clerks on Wednesday evening last, and slipped it over them by 8 runs to 6. The game was a pretty close one, and had it not been for errors by the Clerks, the outcome in the first inning, when the School got 5 runs across, the result might have been different. Cee, Sargent pitched for the Clerks, and while his control is not so good as Smith's, he appears to be slightly harder to hit safely. C. Markle pitched for the School, and the same team as before. The Clerks' team were: Sargent p, Miley c, McLean 1b, Smith 2b, Wakelin 3b, Hamley ss, Glasgow cf, Turaball rf, C. Malcolm lf.

On Thursday night the Firemen and Clerks tried conclusions. Both teams were a little weak on account of the precipitate bringing on of the game instead of waiting until Friday night. The Firemen started out strong, and got three runs in each of the first two innings, but their field work was poor, and the Clerks also came along pretty strong in the run getting. At the last of the sixth inning the score was seven all, and it looked like a close finish, but when the Clerks came to bat in this inning Dr. DeLong appeared to be all in, and they collected 10 runs off him for one out, and the game ended 17-7 in favor of the Clerks. D. Chadsey umpired.

Hopes People will not Lose Heads in Oil Land Booming

J. B. Denis, of C.P.R. Natural Resources Department, Discusses Okotoks Strike.

Montreal, May 21.—While conceding that a genuine oil strike has been made at Calgary, J. B. Denis, assistant to the general manager of the Canadian Pacific Railway, said he hoped the people would not lose their heads and indulge in the usual gas and oil rights. Denis said that the test of oil in the ten-inch hole at the last measure, of high grade. The Canadian Pacific Railway will benefit not only from the oil but from the royalties from many thousands acres of oil land they own. The railway always sold land subject to reservation regarding coal, gas and oil rights, said Mr. Denis. A large amount of work is still to be done before the oil field may be regarded as a complete success.

Mr. Denis says development work is being carried on extensively, fifteen drilling rigs being at work on the area extending 100 miles north and south, and expert reports justify the expectation that a commercial oil field will be developed.
